

EUROPEAN TEAM CHAMPIONSHIPS

1997 European Men's Team Championships

Champions Division

For the third consecutive year, Reggio Calabria/Italy was the host of the Champions Division. Due to this 3 year agreement, the local organisers were able to improve their on-site arrangements from year to year, and the 8 participating teams certainly benefited from that this year. With the Czech Republic, Germany, Great Britain, Italy, Portugal, Sweden, Israel and The Netherlands, the competition promised to become very exciting. And indeed it was. The first round showed no real upsets, with Italy (seed 1) defeating Portugal 2-1, The Netherlands (seed 4) defeating Sweden 2-1, the Czech Republic (seed 2) trashing Israel 2-0; Great Britain (seed 3) gave Germany a lesson; 3-0. In the relegation play-offs the youngsters from Germany and Sweden showed some of their best tennis, and consequently secured the Champions Division spot of their teams by defeating Israel (2-0) and Portugal (2-0) respectively. Meanwhile, the competition experienced its first upset in the semi-final Italy vs. The Netherlands. Dutch captain Michiel Schapers cheered his youngsters Verkerk and Wessels to astonishing victories over Santopadre and Sanguinetti, which brought the Dutch straight into the Final. The other semi-final saw a thrilling tie between the Czech Republic and Great Britain. The Czechs unfortunately had two injured players and therefore could not play at full power. Nevertheless, the British team was not to be stopped, and especially their doubles pair Sapsford/Lee performed at their very best in the doubles match against Skoch/Stepanek. After having defeated the Czechs 2-1 in the semi-final, British captain David Lloyd and his players were ready to meet their overseas neighbours. Martin Verkerk (NL) took the first singles for the Dutch by defeating Martin Lee, who entertained the public with such thrilling tennis that he gained the full support of the Italian crowd. Danny Sapsford levelled the score by defeating Peter Wessels. For Kempes/Wessels (NL) it then proved too difficult against the superb playing British pair Sapsford/Lee who, for the first time in history, secured the European Team Championships title for their country. Last but not least, many thanks to Reggio Calabria for their hard and dedicated work during the past 3 years.

FINAL RANKING

Spain
Denmark
Ireland

Due to the late withdrawal of Switzerland, this Division was played with 3 instead of 4 teams.

The three groups of the Second Division were played in Istanbul/Turkey, Kordin/Malta and Waregem/Belgium. In Turkey, with 6 participating teams, there were two teams to be promoted to the 1998 First Division. Both Poland and Romania achieved their aim. Poland defeated France and Turkey whilst Romania beat Ukraine and Belarus. In Kordin, the organisers suffered from two unfortunate withdrawals, leaving home team Malta to play Cyprus in a Davis Cup Tie format with 4 singles and 1 doubles. Malta at least obtained promotion to the 1998 First Division by trashing Cyprus 5-0. In Waregem/Belgium, the home team of course hoped to be successful. However, inspite of victories over Luxembourg and Hungary, the Belgium team could not manage to defeat the strong Croatian team. As Croatia was successful in all its matches, they will be promoted to the 1998 First Division. Overall, all Divisions were excellently organised by all Host Nations/Local Organisers, and the ETA expresses to all of them its gratitude for the hard work done in favour of the event.
